

NEWS IN BRIEF

It is of some note and interest that we see articles in the National Press "Council tax soars to fund social care".

We are advised that Householders face the biggest rise in Council tax for a decade as Councillors look to address the crisis in social care.

In some instances the cost of social care is accounting for up two thirds of County Council's budget and is increasing as the population ages.

The Local Government Association has estimated a shortfall in funding of £2.6 billion in social care by 2020. It is important in these times for all of us to think carefully for our individual needs for the future and that our family and parents.

Careful planning needs to be given and in some instances simple procedures taken can if time early enough can save an awful of heartache and expense at a later date.
